Policy and Policy Language - Mark A. Carlson (Chair DMTF Policy Work Group, Sun)

Managing virtualization and distributed resources by policy is a desired goal of any well managed IT organization. These policies are today implemented by administrators in a manual, error prone manner. This talk will discuss the standards that the DMTF is putting in place to not only automate the management of resources by policy, but to also allow the interoperable expression of policy that will allow that automation to achieve and maintain service levels with those resources.
